AUTO ACCIDENT WITH NOBODY HURT

Wm. Bohmsch, who delivers the mail on R. D. No. 1, has got everything else in town fixed to a faro-wheel when it comes to performing stunts with an automobile. Billy knows all about automobiles, having driven one over his mail route every nice day during the past two seasons, but he is still able to learn. Last Sunday he took Geo. W. Purnell's Holtsman auto out for an airing, and in company with a companion started for the ball grounds. Bill has anuburn hair and he hates to see anything get away from him on the road, so when Alderman Briere came along with his duck rumbout, going just under the speed limit of 12 miles an hour, Bill was bound to keep up with the procession, even if he busted his gallbladder trying. They crossed the bridge going fully eleven and three-quarters miles an hour, but when they turned the corner at the Central Hardware Co. store, the race was all over. The Holtsman machine didn't take kindly to the sudden turn and it started to slow, and when it had turned nearly half way around it went completely over. Mr. Bohmsch's companion was thrown out, clear of the machine, but Billy himself was pinned underneath the wreck. The crowd on the corner rushed to the assistance of Mr. Bohmsch, expecting to find him mangled beyond repair, but when the machine had been lifted from him he got up and brushed the dust from his clothes and thought it was quite a joke. It was, the way it turned out, but it might have been serious for one or both the occupants of the machine. The auto was righted up and went along again as if nothing had happened.

About County Option.

Considerable is heard nowadays about county option and there are a good many people who do not seem to understand the workings of the system.

About the only difference from the present system would be that a whole county would vote on the proposition of being wet or dry instead of one town or city.

If a county went dry, there could be no saloons in the county. If a county were wet, any community in the county could refuse to issue a license to a saloon the same as is done now, if they wanted to.

County option does not look very good to many people, for the following reason. One part of a county might be strong against the saloons, while another part might be in favor of them, and in some cases it might work an injustice. For instance: If the southern part of Wood County were against saloons and had a majority of the voters on its side, it could carry the county dry notwithstanding the fact that Marshfield would be without a saloon, while only a mile or so out of town, in Marathon county, there might be several, where those who were so inclined could go and drink to their heart's content.

It might be said that this same condition could exist without county option, which is a fact, but the city would be in a position to remedy the matter to the extent of granting a license and keeping the money at home, if they felt so inclined, which they could not do under county option.

Most people feel that county option is a farce; a poor attempt to force something onto a community that it does not want. Each individual should be his own judge as to whether he wants to sell intoxicating liquors or not, and any attempt on the part of some other man to dictate as to what his neighbor shall do invariably meets with antagonism and causes more trouble than it does good.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

Roy Sweet was arrested in Minneapolis last week on a charge of embezzlement and brought to this city and lodged in jail to await a hearing which has been set for Thursday, July 21, before Justice Pomeroy.

Miss Grace Nowatny is the complaining witness.

It seems that Roy had a habit of borrowing rings from his lady friends, of which he had several, and once he had borrowed them, the girls say he neglected to return the property, even the asked for them repeatedly.

Roy doesn't look like a boy who would gain the good will of a lady, borrow a ring to wear as a keepsake, and then refuse to cough up the jewelry when it came time to transfer her affections elsewhere, but you never can tell about these men, and the best way is not to trust them at all, no matter how harmless they may look, for they are all gay deceivers.

Madsen-Cahill.

Arthur Madsen and Miss Mae Cahill were married on Saturday evening at the Catholic parsonage Rev. Wm. Reding officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Anna Cahill and Howard Grotteaus.

Both of the young people are well known in this city, and they have many friends here who will unite with the Tribune in extending congratulations and wishing them a happy journey thru life.

Cranberry Marsh Ruined.

A cranberry marsh belonging to Jacob Soerle, on the Green Bay & Western, west of the city, was swept by fire on Saturday, destroying the crop and killing a large share of the vines on the marsh. The marsh was the individual property of Mr. Soerle and the loss to him will be considerable.

Democrats to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the democrats of Wood county held at the city hall in the city of Marshfield on Friday forenoon, July 22 at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The meeting is held in the morning so that parties from this city may attend and only lose a half a day, although it will be necessary to stay in Marshfield over night.

Democrats from all over the county are urged to attend this convention as it is called for the purpose of nominating a county ticket and member of assembly and a matter in which every democrat should take an interest.

The law requiring democracy to cast 20 per cent of the vote at the primaries is an effort to entirely wipe out the democratic party in the state of Wisconsin. In order to frustrate these designs we must get together and stick together and when primary election day comes we must not only vote ourselves but must see that our friends vote also, in order that the required 20 per cent may turn out. Where there is no competition at the primaries, of course there is very little incentive to vote, and for this reason we should be all the more careful to turn out as big a crowd as possible.

Funeral of F. L. Holliday.

The remains of F. L. Holliday arrived in this city on Monday and the funeral was held that afternoon from the Methodist church, the services being conducted by the Rev. Richard Evans of Herkimer, N. Y.

No particulars of Mr. Holliday's death were received by the family until Tuesday although it was known that he had met with an accident. The particulars of the sad affair were to the effect that he was engaged in testing out some engines that were to be used to drive electric machinery, and while engaged in this work the flywheel on one of the engines burst, resulting in the death of Mr. Holliday.

Deceased was fairly well known in this city, having come here about three years ago and opened the auto shop on the east side. At that time he expected to remain here, but he had lung trouble and the climate here did not agree with him and he went west, where he had resided before coming here with the hope of finding relief from his ailment.

Mr. Holliday was a general man to meet and a gentleman in every respect, and his family here have the sympathy of all in their affliction. He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Back From The West.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Getts, who have made their home at Boise, Idaho, during the past year, arrived in the city on Monday to visit their relatives. Mr. Getts has sold out his business at Boise and is looking for a new location. Mr. Getts does not seem to think much of Idaho as a business proposition, too much sage brush and dry weather to appeal to a Wisconsin man. About the only business that flourishes in that country without stintment is the raising of suckers from the east, of which a fresh crop arrives on every train, and none of them ever have to wait long for a chance to invent their money.

Will Be Married Tomorrow.

I. E. Wilcox, who has charge of the dry goods department of the Johnson & Hill department store, leaves today for Wauwage where he will be united in marriage to Miss Daisy Mae Birch.

Mr. Wilcox is a new comer here, but has made many friends here who will be glad to wish him a happy journey thru life.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox will be at home to their friends after September 1st on the west side in this city.

A New Tailor Shop.

R. P. Matthews of Red Wing, Minn., has rented the store building now occupied by the Main Shoe Co., and intends to open a tailoring establishment therein as soon as it is vacated. Mr. Matthews was in the city a couple of weeks ago and looked things over and was well satisfied with the outlook here.

Building a Residence.

Clark Lyon has commenced the erection of a residence in the eighth ward on a part of the Lyon property. The house will be located just south of Mrs. Nels Johnson's place and is an ideal spot for a residence. The building will be 22x33 feet, two stories high.

MERRILL AND GRAND RAPIDS AT BASEBALL.

The Merrill baseball team played two games here on Saturday and Sunday and the result was a game upset, so that the matter of determining that Merrill has the best team, which they intended to demonstrate, was left in about the same condition that it was before.

The game on Saturday was one of the best that has ever been played in this city, Merrill winning by a score of 11 to 0, it taking eleven innings to settle the matter.

On the day following it was a walkway for Grand Rapids, the score being 12 to 0 in favor of the locals. This game was rather slow, as Grand Rapids took the lead right at the start and made a run of two every inning, making it worse as the game progressed.

A large crowd was out on Sunday to see the game, but as usual the weekday game did not call out such a large number.

Bad Fires Near Biron.

Biron was pretty well surrounded by fire on Saturday, or as nearly surrounded as a burg can be, it is located on the river bank.

The fires extended all along back of town and traveled down toward the John Fossey place, and it was only by the united efforts of the men in that locality that the houses at the corner were saved from burning.

The fire swept down from some distance up river, burning over the marshes and in some places cutting into the cut a foot or more. Those, Goetz, who lives down river, reports that all his hay was burned, causing him quite a loss. Others in that vicinity lost their hay and pasture as well, and in some instances will be compelled to sell their stock.

Ask Soo to Reinstatement Conductor.

A petition has been circulated and distributed during the past week asking the "Soo" line to reinstate Conductor Pelton who was on the Marshfield Nekoosa branch of the old Wisconsin Central

AUTO ACCIDENT WITH NOBODY HURT

Wm. Bolmsach, who delivers the mail on R. D. No. 1, has got everything else in town faded to a far-off well when it comes to performing stunts with an automobile. Billy knows all about automobiles, having driven one over his mail route every nice day during the past two seasons, but he is still able to learn. Last Sunday he took Geo. W. Purcell's Holtsman auto out for an airing, and in company with a companion started for the ball grounds.

Bill has auburn hair, and he hates to see anything get away from him on the road, so when Alderman Briere came along with the speed limit of 12 miles an hour, Bill was bound to keep up with the procession, even if he hated his galluses trying.

They crossed the bridge going fully eleven and three-quarters miles an hour, but when they turned the corner at the Central Hardware Co. store, the race was all over. The Holtsman machine didn't take kindly to the sudden turn and it started to slow, and when it had turned nearly half way around it went completely over.

Mr. Bolmsach's companion was thrown out, clear of the machine, but Billy himself was pinned underneath the wreck. The crowd on the corner rushed to the assistance of Mr. Bolmsach, expecting to find him mangled beyond repair, but when the machine had been lifted from him he got up and brushed the dust from his clothes and thought it was quite a joke. It was, the way it turned out, but it might have been serious for one or both the occupants of the machine. The auto was righted up and went along again as if nothing had happened.

Considerable is heard nowadays about county option and there are a good many people who do not seem to understand the workings of the system.

About the only difference from the present system would be that a whole county would vote on the proposition of being wet or dry instead of one town or city.

If a county went dry, there could be no saloon in the county. If a county were wet, any community in the county could refuse to issue a license to a saloon the same as is done now, if they wanted to.

County option does not look very good to many people, for the following reason. One part of a county might be strong against the saloons, while another part might be in favor of them, and in some cases it might work an injustice.

For instance: If the southern part of Wood County were against the voters on its side, it could carry the county dry notwithstanding the fact that Marshfield was in favor of keeping its saloons.

The result would be that Marshfield would be without a saloon, while only a mile or so out of town, in Marathon county, there might be several, where those who were so inclined could go and drink to their heart's content.

It might be said that this same condition could exist without county option, which is a fact, but the city would be in a position to remedy the matter to the extent of granting a license and keeping the money at home, if they felt so inclined, which they could not do under county option.

Most people feel that county option is a farce; a poor attempt to force something onto a community that it does not want. Each individual should be his own judge as to whether he wants to sell intoxicating liquors or not, and any attempt on the part of some other man to dictate as to what his neighbor shall do invariably meets with antagonism and causes more trouble than it does good.

Arrested for Embezzlement. Roy Sweet was arrested in Minneapolis last week on a charge of embezzlement and brought to this city and lodged in jail to await a hearing which has been set for Thursday, July 21, before Justice Pomainville.

Miss Grace Nowatney is the complaining witness. It seems that Roy had a habit of borrowing rings from his lady friends, of which he had several, and once he had borrowed them, the girls say he neglected to return them, or even asked for them repeatedly.

Roy doesn't look like a boy who would gain the good will of a lady, borrow a ring to wear as a keepsake, and then refuse to cough up the jewelry when it came time to transfer her affections elsewhere, but you never can tell about these men, and the best way is not to trust them at all, no matter how harmless they may look, for they are all gay deceivers.

Madsen-Cahill. Arthur Madsen and Miss Mae Cahill were married on Saturday evening at the Catholic parsonage. Rev. Wm. Reding officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Anna Cahill and Howard Crotteau.

Both of the young people are well known in this city, and they have many friends here who will unite with the Tribune in extending congratulations and wishing them a happy journey thru life.

Cranberry Marsh Ruined. A cranberry marsh belonging to Jacob Searls, on the Green Bay & Western, west of the city, was swept by fire on Saturday, destroying the crop and killing a large share of the vines on the marsh. The marsh was the individual property of Mr. Searls and the loss to him will be considerable.

Democrats to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the democrats of Wood county held at the city hall in the city of Marshfield on Friday forenoon, July 22d at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The meeting is held in the morning so that parties from this city may attend and only lose a half a day, although it will be necessary to stay in Marshfield over night.

Democrats from all over the county are urged to attend this convention, as it is called for the purpose of nominating a county ticket and member of assembly and is a matter in which every democrat should take an interest.

The law requiring democracy to cast 20 per cent of its vote at the primaries is an effort to entirely wipe out the democratic party in the state of Wisconsin. In order to frustrate these designs we must get together and stick together and when primary election day comes we must not only vote ourselves but must see that our friends vote also, in order that the required 20 per cent may turn out. Where there is no competition at the primaries, of course there is very little incentive to vote, and for this reason we should be all the more careful to turn out as big a crowd as possible.

Funeral of F. L. Holliday. The remains of F. L. Holliday arrived in this city on Monday and the funeral was held that afternoon from the Methodist church, the services being conducted by the Rev. Richard Evans of Horkimer, N. Y.

No particulars of Mr. Holliday's death were received by the family until Tuesday although it was known that he had met with an accident. The particulars of the sad affair were to the effect that he was engaged in testing out some engines that were to be used to drive electric machinery, and while engaged in this work the flywheel on one of the engines burst, resulting in the death of Mr. Holliday.

Deceased was fairly well known in this city, having come here about three years ago and opened the auto shop on the east side. At that time he expected to remain here, but he had lung trouble and the climate here did not agree with him and he went west, where with the hope of finding relief from his ailment.

Mr. Holliday was a genial man to meet and a gentleman in every respect, and his family here have the sympathy of all in their affliction. He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Back From The West. Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Gatta, who have made their home at Boise, Idaho, during the past year, arrived in the city on Monday to visit their relatives. Mr. Gatta has sold out his business at Boise and is looking for a new location. Mr. Gatta does not seem to think much of Idaho as a business proposition, too much sage brush and dry weather to suit a Wisconsin man. About the only business that flourishes in that country without abatement is the roping of suckers from the east, of which a fresh crop arrives on every train, and none of them ever have to wait long for a chance to invest their money.

Will Be Married Tomorrow. I. E. Wilcox, who has charge of the dry goods department of the Johnson & Hill department store, leaves today for Wausau where he will be united in marriage to Miss Daisy Mae Rich.

Mr. Wilcox is a new comer here, but has made many friends here who will be glad to wish him a happy journey thru life.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox will be at home to their friends after September 1st on the west side in this city.

A New Tailor Shop. R. F. Matthews of Red Wing, Minn., has rented the store building now occupied by the Mair Shoe Co., and intends to open a tailoring establishment therein as soon as it is vacated. Mr. Matthews was in the city a couple of weeks ago and looked things over and was well satisfied with the outlook here.

Building a Residence. Clark Lyon has commenced the erection of a residence in the eighth ward on a part of the Lyon property. The house will be located just south of Mrs. Nels Johnson's place and is an ideal spot for a residence. The building will be 22x33 feet, two stories high.

For Member of Assembly. To the Voters of Wood County:—I hereby announce that I shall be a candidate for the Republican nomination for member of assembly at the primary election to be held September 6, 1910.

P. O. Winther, Nekoma, Wis.

For Clerk of Court.—I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of clerk of the Court of Wood county on the republican ticket at the coming primary election.

A. B. Bever, Clerk of Court.

For County Treasurer.—I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of county treasurer of Wood county on the republican ticket at the coming primary election.

Wm. H. Peters, Co. Treas.

Henry Hendrickson of Wausau recently received a check for $13,719 from the Soo line for injuries received three years ago. Hendrickson, while helping the train crew with a car was run over and lost one leg below the knee. Attorney B. R. Goggins of this city assisted in trying out the case for Mr. Hendrickson.

MERRILL AND GRAND RAPIDS AT BASEBALL.

The Merrill baseball team played two games here on Saturday and Sunday and the result was a game apiece, so that the matter of determining which team has the best team, which they intended to demonstrate, was left in about the same condition that it was before.

The game on Saturday was one of the best that has ever been played in this city, Merrill winning by a score of 1 to 0, it taking eleven innings to settle the matter.

On the day following it was a walkaway for Grand Rapids, the score being 12 to 0 in favor of the locals. This game was rather slow, as Grand Rapids took the lead right at the start and made a run or two every inning, making it worse as the game progressed.

A large crowd was out on Sunday to see the game, but as usual the weekday game did not call out such a large number.

Bad Fires Near Biron. Biron was pretty well surrounded by fire on Saturday, or as nearly surrounded as a burg can be that is located on the river bank.

The fires extended all along back of town and traveled down toward the John Poesley place, and it was only by the united efforts of the men in that locality that the houses at the corner were saved from burning.

The first wind down from some distance up river, burning over the marshes and in some places cutting into the soil a foot or more.

Thos. GoGrath, who lives above Biron, reports that all his hay was burned, causing him quite a loss. Others in that vicinity lost their hay and pastures as well, and in some instances will be compelled to sell their stock.

Ask Soo to Reinstall Conductor. A petition has been circulated and liberally signed during the past week asking the "Soo" line to reinstall Conductor Pelton who was on the Marshfield-Nekoma branch of the old Wisconsin Central for many years and one of the oldest conductors on that railroad. After the passing of the Central under the control of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & North Star, Mr. Pelton continued as conductor on the Nekoma line until recently.

Mr. Pelton has many friends along the line who want to see him reinstated not because they have anything against the new conductor, but because they believe the old conductor is fully competent to continue for a few years yet in active service and then retire on the pension list established by the "Soo" line.

Concerning Nomination Papers. The time for circulating nomination papers for candidates who seek nomination at the primary election to be held Sept. 6, commenced on July 7, sixty days prior to the time of filing, it being necessary to file all nomination papers thirty days prior to the time of holding the primary. Candidates seeking county offices must secure at least three per cent of the party vote in at least one-sixth of the election precincts of each district and in aggregate not less than three per cent nor more than ten per cent of the total vote of his party in each district. Each signer of a nomination paper shall sign but one such paper for the same office, and shall declare that he intends to support the candidate therein.

Candidacy Well Received.—The candidacy of Chas. E. Briers, of Grand Rapids, 2nd district attorney of Wood county, will meet with the best consideration of the thinking people of the county. He is a bright young man, a good lawyer, a general all around good fellow, and affiliated with one of the best law firms of this part of the state.—The Pittsville Record.

When LAWMAKERS Become PEEVISH

IT is the custom to speak of the United States senate as the most dignified legislative body in the world, while on occasions the house of representatives has been described as a "bear garden." The senate is ordinarily a dignified deliberative body, but even then it is a mistake to look upon the house of representatives as a "bear garden." In the senate the members are usually given to orderly procedure. There have been within the last few months many scenes of intense excitement in the house. Times when personal and factional tempers have run high and when there was the "high jinks" for some bordering on the tumultuous in the main, however, through all the temporarying of the attempt to elect Speaker Cannon of his power, and during the intense moments of the debate on the railroad bill, the members succeeded in holding themselves in check, and in giving an exhibition of self-restraint that was admirable. On only a few occasions within the space of six years that our countrymen have watched proceedings in the house, have there been personal encounters on the floor between members. In only one instance really could these affairs be spoken of as personal encounters, for in only one case were blows exchanged.

The New Yorker's demand for an investigation, and the whole matter went by default with the speaker of both houses standing in the Congressional record as evidence of a warm day in congress. In a debate on the tariff last year, the dry subject of lumber was taken up, and a personal encounter between Representative Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, and Representative Adam M. Byrd of Mississippi. The Mississippi member had said that the Michigan member was interested personally in lumber matters and had intimated that he was particularly interested in a section of a lumber tract. The Michigan member said something in return which was a little stronger than a mere statement that the Mississippi member did not know what he was talking about. At any rate, Representative Byrd stripped off his coat and started down the aisle toward the Republican side, and toward Mr. Fordney, who stood perfectly still, awaiting the attack. Not many years ago Fordney had worked in the capacity of what is known as a "bummer jack," and he is as hard as any nail that was ever driven into a board. Before the Mississippi member could reach the scene of intended action, however, he was seized by several members, and his coat was slipped on to his back once more. Later, the two representatives made up their differences.

and temper indicated by the sound of his first name, but the Republican leader is not serene at all times, although he, perhaps better than any other prominent man in the house, keeps control of his emotions. Mr. Payne is fat and he is jolly under ordinary circumstances. Occasionally when his good Republican soul is pierced by an arrow of sarcasm, invective or reproach fired from the Democratic side, Sereno loses his serenity, and he grows quite hot and emits what some members have dubbed "bulls of lightning." On occasions of less heat the Republican leader emits sparks only, but they are of the kind that burn. There are personalities of indignation and anger in Representative Payne that would suspect who looks down from the gallery upon his ordinarily calm exterior.

A former minority leader of the house and one of the leading members of his party, exchanged blows, but the matter was a personal one, and not a political one, and it might have happened outside of the house as well as inside. It was not brought about by the heat of debate, but by long continued friction which engendered heat enough to cause an explosion while the house was in session. One of the parties to this physical encounter is now dead, and the other, next March, will take his seat in the senate of the United States. Their names probably will suggest themselves at once.

Later, the two representatives made up their differences.

Every man has his moments, but of course in the house of representatives, pronounced manners are the leading incidents are the things which become the subject of public discussion. Sereno E. Payne, the Republican leader, is the author of the last tariff bill as it passed the house of representatives. Outwardly, Mr. Payne suggests a condition of mind that is not in the least disturbed. It was a great change from former conditions, and it was a direct attack on the power of the speaker, an attack that had in it something much that was personal, although most of the men who had a hand in it, denied that there was any personal feeling. Men sat white in their seats or stood and spoke with shaking voices, and some of the excitement, but during it all each man kept a firm hold on his temper, and while it seemed to the spectators that encounters must come, they never came, and the change in the rules was effected, involving as it did, an airing of factional differences with just as little outward show of disturbance as would attend the enactment of legislation of small degree of interest.

One of the most exciting times in the house of representatives in recent years was a verbal encounter between Representative Bourke Cockran, Democrat, of New York City, and Representative John Dalzell, Republican, of Pittsburgh. Bourke Cockran is known as one of the greatest orators of the United States, and John Dalzell is known as one of the ablest debaters on the Republican side of the house of representatives, a small man physically, but absolutely fearless. Dalzell is one of the chief advocates of protection.

Woman's Splendid Work

Mrs. Nannie Goffrey is the head of St. Paul's school, which is in a community of fisherfolk near Bennington, N. C. The work was begun by her mother, who dying pledged her eight-year-old daughter to take her place. Mrs. Goffrey took up the work when she was fifteen by hiring a room and engaging a teacher at five dollars a month. At first everything had to be supplied, even the clothes for the children to wear at school. One fisherman's son was put in training for the ministry and to take charge of the school after two years, and a friend contributed $500, with which a small schoolhouse was built. At the end of two years, when the young minister returned to take charge, the school had outgrown the schoolhouse, and it was again necessary to rent quarters and more teachers. After ten years the school has property worth $10,000 and besides Mrs. Goffrey and a secretary there are 12 teachers. The school has a self-supporting printing plant and carpenter shops, sewing and cooking schools and a kindergarten. The last term there were in the neighborhood of 300 pupils. Among its graduates there are four clergymen in mission fields. There are also two lawyers, ten bookkeepers, four printers and many women school teachers.

Indian is Not Understood

White Race Has Proved Utterly Unable to Fathom Mind and Philosophy of the Red Man. Even among the five civilized tribes there still remain many communities wholly full of blood. These people drift together, following their own ideas of life, speaking their own language and retaining before the whites with the same strange reserve and pride that characterized them in their wild state. Although claiming the name of several Christian denominations, and following certain beliefs with devoutness, their ways of thinking, their dislike of innovation and their aversion to work have made them withdraw to the mountain districts. Whether this so-called reserve comes from pride or a distrust of the white man or timidity or merely a stubborn conservatism it produces the same result; the backward and nonprogressive Indian. There is, too, a certain mystic quality that holds the Indian aloof, says the Southern Workman; a quality that we do not understand, and with which there is little sympathy in our everyday life. He is so much of a philosopher that he looks upon our strenuous life with some contempt, dismissing our efforts for personal comfort and material advancement with the remark that "the white man is heap trouble to himself." White people call him lazy because he does not care to exert himself for things which seem important to whites, and yet to some religious ceremonial or some artistic expression his application is persistent and the "patience of an Indian" has passed into a proverb. Cleanliness of Ants. No creature is more tidy than an ant, who cannot tolerate the presence of dirt on her body, says a writer in St. Nicholas. These little creatures actually use a number of real toilet articles in keeping themselves clean. A well-known authority says that their articles consist of coarse and fine toothbrushes, hair brushes, sponges and even washes and soap. Their saliva is their liquid soap, and their soft tongues are their sponges. Their combs, however, are the genuine article and differ from ours mainly in that they are fastened to their legs. The ants have no set time for their toilet operations, but stop and clean up whenever they get soiled.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

MEADOWBROOK FARM

Turn all the rubbish. Keep a pure bred ram. Any climate suits alfalfa. Clover is a more efficient subsoiler than the best subsoil plow. Some say that cows need salt when the butter is hard to churn. A good wick to the incubator lamp is one of the important things. Dampness in the poultry house, yards or runs is often a source of trouble. The thing that counts in the poultry business is doing the right thing at the right time. Don't let the weeds get a foot high and then pull them, disturbing the surrounding flowers, even if none are pulled out.

Be sure to milk the cow clean. Thorough ventilation is necessary. Air and cool incubator eggs daily. Already the demand for dairy cows is much in excess of the supply. The brooder and brooder coop must be amply ventilated at all times. Make the milker wash his hands with soap before he begins to milk. Corn is assuredly the most fattening farm grain that may be fed to sheep. Lack of a constant supply of clean, pure, fresh water before the fowls means defeat in the end. Any food that will keep hens in prime condition and with vigorous appetites will cause them to lay. Do not think that the separator is a difficult piece of machinery to handle and that it is hard to take care of. To every ten pounds of butter in the churn mix one pound of dairy salt and two pounds of water. Two essentials must be observed to keep milk sweet and clean for two or three days so that it can be shipped a distance or held at home for use. Many varieties of trees will in a few years grow large enough for fuel and for small timber, such as poles, which can be used in many ways. Select dairy cows that have every indication of being milk producers, but determine this positively by the use of the Babcock test and the scale. It is estimated that there are 95,000,000 head of horses in the world. The United States and European Russia have the greatest number. Pumpkins should never be planted in the garden. The vines take up more room than they are worth. The corn field for the pumpkins. Poinsettias, which were formerly thrown away by the canners, are now being used for stock food. They are preserved in alcohol, or steeped in the open air. Cowpeas belong to the family of plants known as the legumes, which have the power of taking nitrogen from the air by means of the bacteria which live on their roots. You can afford to buy feeds for pigs and lambs at the prices these animals will bring this summer, and the pasture will soon help out the feed question. A nation wide battle against the common house fly has been started and it is expected to be waged vigorously during the present year, directed by government scientists. To force chickens the best success is obtained by placing it under greenhouse benches or in a rather dark cellar, but little light and heat is required to force good results. Millet is a warm-weather plant and consequently it may be sown any time up to the middle of July with reasonable assurance that it will produce a satisfactory hay crop. To prevent rats and other animals from killing and carrying off young chicks use a tight board coop provided with a small run and all securely enclosed with one-inch poultry netting, including the top of the run. Milk and butter are higher priced today in the large cities than ever before. There is no danger of overstocked markets for many years to come. This is especially true if the dairymen produce premium milk and butter. Several different things may cause the suppression of milk in one or more sections of the udder. Generally the cause may be traced to an injury of some kind received when the heifer was running in the pasture, or it may be traced to an inherited weakness. When gathering flowers always use a sharp knife or scissors to cut them smooth and clean. Early in the morning is the best time, and the blossoms not quite developed will last longest. "Soups" the stems deeply in water for an hour or so before making bouquets. A very considerable extension of live stock farming would materially increase the cash output from farms and at the same time save millions to the future farm wealth by keeping on the farm a large percentage of the fertility that is now sold off in the form of corn, oats and hay. Raising calves on skim milk is the best method, all things considered; and they will grow up better than any other food as well as when allowed to run with the cow. The secret of success and good health with the animals is to feed often and in small amounts. Overfeeding and irregular feeding will cause the scours and calves will grow indifferently. Most of these waste places on the farm are the richest kind of land. If the brush and briars were grubbed out and the space put into cultivation they would grow the biggest crops on the farm. The soil in such places is full of organic matter and other rich fertilizers, which have accumulated for years in the form of dead insects and decaying twigs, leaves and roots. Stockmen have long been of the opinion that a ration of mangels or sugar beets is some way causes kidney or bladder stones when fed for any length of time. But in some light on this subject the Iowa experiment station has been carrying on some experiments in feeding mangels and sugar beets to rams. The results of these experiments show conclusively that such feeding is attended with considerable danger and is almost sure to prove fatal if continued for any considerable period of time. For short fattening periods there is no particular danger. Those having tight poultry buildings will find it much to their advantage in the betterment of the health and productiveness of their flock if they will replace a portion of the glass in the south fronts of their poultry houses with screens of coarse, unbleached muslin loosely tacked on wooden frames. These screens admit air, fresh and pure, at all times without danger from drafts. Drafts must be avoided, since they give rise to colds and catarrhs, which provide a favorable seat for the development of disease germs which cause roup.

A BURNING ERUPTION FROM HEAD TO FEET

"Four years ago I suffered severely with a terrible eruption, being a mass of sores from head to feet and for six weeks confined to my bed. During that time I suffered continual tortures from itching and burning. After being given up by my doctor I was advised to try Cuticura Remedies. After the first bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment I enjoyed the first good sleep during my entire illness. I also used Cuticura Resolvent and the treatment was continued for about three weeks. At the end of that time I was able to go about the house, entirely cured, and have felt no ill effects since. I would advise any person suffering from any form of skin trouble to try the Cuticura Remedies, as I know what they did for me. Mrs. Edward Nennig, 1112 Salina St., Watertown, N. Y., Apr. 11, 1909."

Foxy Hiram

"Well, now, if that ain't surprising!" ejaculated Mrs. Hiram, as she shook her eyes with her hand. "There goes old Hiram Skindint, and going to sleep on a poor black cat he picked it up, and I bet he is going to drop it somewhere out of the reach of danger. Her husband laughed knowingly. "Not Hiram Skindint, Mandy. He'll go down to Jed Weather's general store and order a pound of granulated sugar. Then while Jed is looking another way he'll drop the ant among the grains and tell Jed as long as his sugar has ants in it he ought to sell it at half price. Like as not he'll try to get Jed to throw in two or three pounds and a yeast cake. You don't know Hiram Skindint."

Well, Wasn't He Right?

The minister was addressing the Sunday school. "Children, I want to talk to you for a few moments about one of the most wonderful, one of the most important organs in the whole world," he said. "What is that? That's the stomach, boys and girls, never stopping, never ceasing, whether you wake or sleep, night or day, week in and week out, month in and month out, year in and year out, without any volition on your part, hidden away in the depths, as it were, unseen by you, throbbing, throbbing rhythmically all your life long." During this pause for oratorical effect a small voice was heard: "I know, it's the gas motor."

He Had Been Observing.

"Why don't you call your invention the 'Bachelor's Button'?" I asked my friend, who was about to put on the market a button that a man could attach without needle or thread. "I fear that the appellation would imply too much restriction," he answered. "You see, he went on, giving me one of his knowing smiles, I expect to do just as much business with the married men as with the bachelors."

Tactful.

A woman with a pronounced squint went to a fashionable photographer. He looked at her and she looked at him and both were embarrassed. He spoke first. "Won't you permit me," he said, "to take your portrait in profile? There is a certain asymmetry about one of your eyes which is as difficult in art as it is fascinating in nature." Bescon.

PAROLE BOARD

MEETS JULY 19

Forty-Nine Applications Are to Be Considered.

MENDOTA ASYLUM HAS 'BUS

Of 150 Paroles Granted Since Law Was Passed Only Six Have Been Violated—Names of Applicants Not Made Public.

Madison—The state board of control, which has charge of the charitable and penal institutions of Wisconsin, will meet at the state prison in Waupun on July 19 for the purpose of hearing 49 applications for parole.

The board will not make public the names of the applicants because it believes that general publicity does not promote the purposes of the parole law. It is known, however, that several prisoners of high notoriety have asked to be paroled. Recently the board grants about one-third of the applications.

Since the parole law was passed three and a half years ago the board has released over 150 prisoners from Waupun and only six of them violated the conditions of their parole.

The board has established a bus service between the railroad station and state insane asylum at Mendota, a distance of three-quarters of a mile, the fee for the ride being ten cents each way.

It is expected that the service will be self-maintaining, as the average number of asylum visitors daily is about fifty.

Houses Indian Relics.

The museum of the State Historical society of Wisconsin, where the Wisconsin Archeological society will have its headquarters during the state assembly in Madison, July 29 and 30, has many treasures of archeology and local Indian history. They occupy over fifty walls and table cases. There are among its many treasures a section of old Indian treaty and council place associated with Buffalo, old gray-headed Decorah, and other famous Wisconsin chiefs; a collection of Spanish, British and American treaty medals; clothing, weapons, utensils, and numerous other articles once in use by the local Winnebago, Ojibway, Menominee and other tribes; the collection of local native copper implements and ornaments number over 100 pieces. The collections of mound pottery from Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee is equaled by but few public collections of this kind in the country. There is likewise an extensive collection of old cliff dwelling and mound ware from New Mexico and Arizona and a selected series of choice ware from the modern Pueblos of the same region.

Outing Ends Meet of State Scribes. Visiting editors to the convention of the United States Press association went to Wauchesa to be guests of the business men's organization of that city for the day.

W. H. Bridgman of Stanley was named president in the annual election on Friday afternoon. F. E. Andrews of Bloomer was returned to secretaryship. C. L. Coward, Laell, is treasurer. One vice-president for each congressional district was named as follows:

First District—A. P. Colby, Union Grove; Second, G. L. Schwarz, Poynter; Third, K. S. Fogo, Richland Center; Fourth, G. A. Rust, Milwaukee; Fifth, H. F. Bolens, Port Washington; Seventh, Merline Hull, Black River Falls; Eighth, Mrs. Anetta R. Carpenter, Waupun; Ninth, A. T. O'Brien, Kaukauna; Tenth, E. J. Scott, Shawano; and Eleventh, A. C. Chase, Colfax.

At the annual campment of the United States Press association, Madison men were elected. John Armstrong of Milwaukee, senior vice commander; Thomas K. Kingston of Madison junior vice commander; and Dr. C. M. Evans of Madison, surgeon. The next annual meeting will be held in Janesville.

Sends Notice to Banks.

State Banking Commissioner M. C. Hergh has notified state banks of Wisconsin that hereafter they must use the form sent out from his department for official publications of the condition of their business and not use an abridged form as some of them have been doing. The shorter form does not furnish the publicity required, the commissioner says.

State Labor Convention.

The annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor will be held at Watertown, beginning on July 20. Delegates will be present from all over the state.

Petitions on insurance and compulsory arbitration will be prepared, to be presented to the next legislature, which will meet this fall. Compulsory arbitration was opposed by organized labor at the last session of the legislature, and they are prepared to defeat it again in case it should come up at the next session.

A move will be made at the convention for a ten-hour law for females. An eight-hour day is preferred by the unions, but they have thought it best to apply for ten hours at first.

Assemblyman Fred Brockhausen said that the Federated Trades Council would do all in its power to protect the eight-hour law on all state buildings.

This law was passed, and the Federated Trades Council is said to be arranging to bring it up at the state convention, where, it is said, proper action will be taken in the matter to prevent it from going to the courts.

McCurdy Made Secretary.

E. Keyes McCurdy, superintendent of carriers of the Madison post office, was elected secretary of the Wisconsin Association of Post Office Clerks, the state branch of the United National association, at Sheboygan. A. J. Snyder of La Crosse was elected president and Carl B. McCabe of Oshkosh delegate to the national convention at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Green Bay was selected as next year's convention city.

The convention was the most largely attended of any yet held.

Indianapolis—Most of the advertising signs in the foreign sections of the city present many humorous phases of business activities. They are inartistic, in bad taste, and seem to display a generous amount of ignorance or carelessness—but such is not the case.

Investigation has disclosed the fact that these signs, at least most of them, serve no business purpose. They are the medium which bring and hold the foreigners together, and they attract hundreds of up-to-date Americans, who think those signs stand for just what they want. The advertising in the foreign districts, however crude it may seem, is in many respects more up to date than what is used downtown. Many of the foreigners—and many in the foreign districts are matured Americans—could prepare or order as pretty signs as soon anywhere, but this would spoil the business in those districts, and the old signs are retained.

A man on West Washington street, blacksmith by trade, and one who looks every bit a foreigner, is well educated. He knows every word in the English language adapted to his trade and does not have to stutter when spelling most any word called for. He writes a good hand and can print the capital and small letters of the alphabet almost as well as a graduate sign painter. But his sign over the door to the shop reads:

KORSEShong

Another, almost as good, on the front of the shop, says:

WagGons

As soon as those are noticed the on-looker will comment on the poor spelling, first of all. Then he will take into consideration the art of sign making and wonder why on earth a man should jumble the letters in that fashion. With that he will pass on and forget the apparent ignorance or carelessness displayed publicly until he arrives at the next establishment, which may have a sign something like this:

BORDERS BY WEK OR DEY WANTED

This may not seem so crude. The letters are uniform and present a good appearance. Evidently somebody with real artistic instinct had been employed to advertise the wants of the house. Here the spelling is the chief fault.

A large artistic and in every way beautiful sign, such as can be seen in the business district, would not attract the foreigners. First of all, they think an establishment carrying a sign of bright colors and worked out to mathematical precision would show too much prosperity, too much Americanism.

About Beans. The bean that we eat in some form nearly every day, that almost every body likes, is comparatively new as an edible. Our common, everyday bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe, whence it came to this country, during the sixteenth century, and now is represented by more than 150 cultivated varieties. The big, broad bean is the bean of history and its origin is so remote that it is doubtful, it is probably a native of southwestern Asia and northeastern Europe.

The New Way. Manitowoc—Ptomah poisoning, believed to have been contracted from eating canned tomatoes, caused the death of Mrs. Otto Schwenke. The woman was ill about a week.

Jefferson—A severe wind and rain storm visited this section. Lightning struck the farm residence of William Pfeil, damaging it to the extent of $3,500.

La Crosse—Charles Brown, sent to the county jail for the theft of a boat, escaped and as a result of the condition of the jail there is a rumor of other escapes. District Attorney Thompson began an investigation with the avowed intention of effecting the removal of whichever of the sheriff's force is responsible.

Oshkosh—The Loyd Order of Moose will have an extensive program, including a street parade and an installation of two lodges in armory B on Merritt street. Oshkosh lodge No. 282 and Pond du Lac lodge No. 281 will be installed.

Another cut to 10 per cent is expected, unless there is rain soon.

WILL NAME TICKET

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS IN CONVENTION NOMINATE SCHMITZ FOR GOVERNOR.

THE CONVENTION IS STORMY

Milwaukee Meeting Scores Aids to Senator Stephenson's Election After a Bitter Fight—Republicans Condemned.

Milwaukee—After a busy day's session, during which several spirited contests arose, the Democratic state convention at the Alhambra theater early Wednesday morning voted in favor of nominating a state ticket and named Adolph J. Schmitz as the party's candidate for governor. The nomination of Mr. Schmitz was unanimous.

The big sensation of the day came when George E. Ballhorn, former assistant district attorney of Milwaukee, introduced a resolution condemning the three Democrats in the last legislative session who walked out on the day Isaac Stephenson was elected United States senator, making the election possible by their absence.

The resolution threw the convention into an uproar. Temporary Chairman Michael Kelly of Fond du Lac ruled Mr. Ballhorn out of order, declaring that all resolutions must be handed to the committee on resolutions and must not be introduced from the floor of the convention. The resolution went to the committee, was reported back, and was finally adopted after a bitter fight on the floor of the convention.

In a strong defense of principles of the Democratic party and with harsh criticism of the Republican administration, Chairman Kelly outlined the policy of the Democratic campaign in Wisconsin at the opening of the convention.

More government for the people and by the people; less government by class and for privilege, and a progressive platform were among the things advocated by the temporary chairman.

"On the right of the government to levy tribute on one class for the benefit of another the Democratic party takes decisive issue with the Republican party," said Mr. Kelly.

The unanimous report of the committee on resolutions which was presented to the convention favors home rule in municipal affairs, citizens to determine whether or not they should adopt the initiative, referendum and recall.

The Republican party of Wisconsin is condemned for enacting a law by which, it is charged, it intended to prevent the Democratic party from having a place as a party on the ticket. The law referred to is the "20 per cent" primary law, which provides that any party in order to get a place on the ticket must cast a vote at the primary equal to 20 per cent. of the party vote cast at the preceding presidential election. The amendment of the Constitution of the United States to permit the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is favored.

A lengthy plank declares the party in favor of conservation and government of the people and the natural resources of the state and national and argues the Republican party with being a reckless squanderer of natural resources.

The report concludes with the following planks:

"We favor the enactment and the rigorous enforcement of a stringent corrupt practice act to the end that politics may be purified and members of corrupt combinations in politics adequately punished.

"We denounce the infamous Payne-Aldrich tariff law passed by the last congress as a betrayal of the interests of the people and as a measure enacted for the benefit of special interests, offering no relief whatever to the consumers of our country; we approve of the gallant opposition of the Democratic members of congress to the same and declare for a prompt reduction of the tariff in favor of the people and not in the interest of the product of any trust or combination whatsoever.

"We reaffirm our devotion to the Democratic principle of economy in public expenditures, both state and national. We denounce the reckless and unjustifiable extravagance of the Republican state and national administration, and we oppose the practice of creating unnecessary offices for the purpose of supplying places to political henchmen, whose chief occupation is that of keeping the Republican party in power at the expense of the taxpayers of the state."

The report was adopted as read after the convention had wrangled for three hours in an effort on the part of a large number of the delegates to change the phraseology of the planks relating to conservation and home rule.

Dies Without His Revenge. New York—Henry Dexter, the millionaire president of the American News company, died at his home here in his ninety-eighth year, having spent the greater part of the last seven years of his life in an unrelenting search for the murderer of his son, Orlando P. Dexter. A reward of $10,000 offered by Mr. Dexter for the apprehension of the murderer is said to be continued in a codicil to Dexter's will. Orlando P. Dexter was shot in September, 1902, while driving along the Adirondack mountains.

Pinehot to Take the Stump. New York—Clifford Pinehot, close friend of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and former United States forester, announced Tuesday that he would start for California at once to take up the stump in behalf of Hiram Johnson, who is seeking the gubernatorial nomination in the Golden State, and has been endorsed for that honor by the Lincoln-Roosevelt league of California. He will speak also for William Kent, formerly of Chicago, who is an insurgent candidate for congress in California.

Controlled Newspapers.

The Alhambra Globe says that no advertiser has ever tried to control its editorial policy, the remark being occasioned by the charge often made nowadays, that the big advertisers direct the editorial policy of newspapers.

The experience of the Globe is the experience of most newspapers. The merchant who does a great deal of advertising is more interested in the circulation department of a newspaper than in the editorial department. If a daily paper goes to the homes of the people, and is read by them, he is satisfied, and it may chase after any theory or fad, for all he cares. He has troubles of his own, and he isn't trying to shoulder those of the editorial brethren.

There are newspapers controlled by people outside of the editorial rooms, and a good many of them, more's the pity; but the people exercising that control are not the business men who pay their money for advertising space.

The newspapers which are established for political purposes are often controlled by chronic officeholders, whose chief concern is their own interests. There are newspapers controlled by great corporations, and the voice of such newspapers is always raised in protest against any genuine reform.

The average western newspaper usually is controlled by its owner, and he is supposed to be in duty bound to make all sorts of sacrifices at all sorts of times; there are people who consider it his duty to insult his advertisers, just to show that he is free and independent. If he shows a decent respect for his patrons, who pay him their money, and make it possible for him to carry on the business, he is "subsidized" or "controlled."

The newspaper owner is a business man, like the dry goods man or the grocer. The merchants are expected to have consideration for their customers, and they are not supposed to be subsidized by the man who spends five dollars with them, but the publisher is expected to demonstrate his courage by showing that he is ungrateful for the patronage of his friends. It is a funny combination when you think it over.—Emporia Gazette.

Statistics Go Lame.

"Fours to me, there's something wrong with statistics," remarked the oldest inhabitant as he dropped into his usual place on the lumber bench.

"What's wrong with 'em?" queried the village grocer.

"Well, erordin' 'em 'em," continued the o. l., "we order hay had a death in town every six weeks for the past two years."

"Is that so?" said the grocer.

"Yaas," answered the other, "as by ginger, we ain't had 'em!"

The Mighty Traveler Goes Buoyantly Through a Long and Trying Reception-Parade, Showing Lively Interest in Everything American

The White Company Receives Unique Compliment for the Sturdy Reliability of Its Steam Car From Mr. Roosevelt and Family

Theodore Roosevelt and Party in White Steamer.

After fifteen months' absence, exactly as scheduled, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt disembarked from the Kaiser August Victoria, Saturday morning, July 18, at 11 a. m. To the keen disappointment of a large group of newspaper correspondents, Mr. Roosevelt absolutely refused, as heretofore, to be interviewed or to talk on political subjects, but his rapid fire of questions showed the same vivacious interest in public affairs as before.

If the welcome tendered by the vast throng may be considered a criterion upon which to base a "return from Elba," surely there was no discordant note in the immense reception-parade, nor in the widely clamorous crowd which cheered at every glimpse and hung on his every word.

The incidents of the day in New York were many, but perhaps none better illustrated the nervous energy and vitality of the man, the near-maniac to be up-and-doing, which he has brought back to us, than the descending of horses and carriages for the swifter and more reliable automobiles. The moment the Roosevelt family and immediate party landed, they were whisked away in White Steamers to the home of Mrs. Douglas Robinson at 433 Fifth avenue. A little later, when the procession reached the corner of Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, Colonel Roosevelt again showed his preference for the motor car in general and the White cars in particular, when his Cornelia Vanderbilt and Colonel Lauch transferred from their carriages to White Steamers, which were in waiting for them.

After luncheon at Mr. Robinson's house, the entire party, including Colonel Roosevelt, again entered White cars and were driven to Long Island City, where they were to take a special train to the ex-President's home at Oyster Bay.

The supremacy of the White cars with the Roosevelt party was again demonstrated on Sunday, when the party was driven to church in the White Steamers, and a group of some forty prominent Rough Riders were taken in a White Gasoline Truck to a clamor at the Travlers Island club house of the New York Athletic Club.

GOT PHOTOGRAPH OF PANTHER

Exciting Experience Which Few Members of the Party Care to Go Through Again.

A panther is not easily killed, and will often revive with very unpleasant results, as on a certain occasion in the Decatur. He appeared to be quite dead, and one of the spectators rushed up with a camera on a stand to obtain a picture of the supreme moment. He got his photograph, and, strange to say, it survived what followed; but no sooner had he taken it than the panther revived, tore himself loose, and went for the photographer. Somehow the man escaped, but the camera was sent flying, and disconcerted by his encounter with it, the panther turned and made for the nearest tree, up which he went as quickly as a monkey. Now, the tree was crowded with interested spectators, and for three or four strenuous seconds (until the panther was shot) we enjoyed a spectacle of nature dropping to earth with loud thuds like ripe plums from a jungle tree as the panther approached them.—Wide World Magazine.

A Few Short Weeks.

Mr. J. S. Bartell, Edwardsville, Ill., writes: "A few months ago my kidneys became congested. I had severe backache and pain across the kidneys and hips. Beware of Free Fakers.

Secretary Frederick Crane of Madison, Wis., has sent out a letter to the members of the Wisconsin state horticultural society warning them against a clover nursery fraud that is being worked in various parts of the country and asking those who hear of the plan being worked to report to him. Mr. Crane's letter follows: "We have reason to believe that a clever nursery swindle is about to be started in this state, if not already begun, and the assistance of every member is needed to catch the swindlers and put them out of business.

Their scheme will probably be something as follows: Trees will be offered for sale which are guaranteed to be free from a dangerous disease known as 'Blackheart' and a clipping will be shown probably from your home paper, in which appears a statement from one representing himself as assistant United States forester regarding this notorious disease.

"If any agent or solicitor appears making such representations take careful note of his statement and report, telegraph or telephone. I have positive proof that no such person is connected with the forest service at Washington or any other bureau of the department of agriculture.

"Please watch for the 'blackheart' tree agent; get him to make definite statement and then notify me at once. He is also badly wanted at Washington and if you hear of him notify the forest service, Washington, D. C., and also this office.

Frederick Crane, Secretary.

NEKOOSA

(From the Times)

The Nekoosa school board has been napping itself during the past week to get the work of installing a heating and ventilating plant started in order to have the building ready before school opens September 5. It was the original intention to excavate under the school building for a basement in which to place a boiler, but after removing a part of the foundation the opinion of the members of the board that it would not be as practicable to put in a basement as to erect a separate building for a boiler house at the rear end of the school house. This proposition seems to meet with the approval of leading citizens here and new plans have been prepared for this purpose.

James B. Nash of Port Edwards has resigned his position with the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co. to take effect in the late summer. Directly thereafter he will take several months vacation and then go to Spokane, Wash., to reside. Mr. and Mrs. Nash are former residents of Nekoosa where they have a host of admiring friends, who will be interested in their continued success out west. Like his father, T. E. Nash, founder of Nekoosa, J. B. Nash has always felt the keenest pride in the village of Nekoosa and he has been glad to do what was in his power to enhance the welfare of this community.

Mrs. J. Gauthier left on Tuesday for a pleasure trip to Yellowstone Park, Victoria, B. C. and points on the Pacific coast. Miss Dora Mosler of Milwaukee joined Mrs. Gauthier at Marshfield, and will accompany her on the trip. On the way out they will visit a cousin of Miss Mosler's who lives on a ranch in Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Borchelt and children, Gern and Leonard, of Waterloo, Iowa, who have visited relatives at Saratoga, New Rome and Grand Rapids for the past week or two days, and also visited friends here on Thursday, will return to their home in Iowa on Friday.

The firm of Oksnee & Jensen has been dissolved. Mr. Jensen retiring, and Oksnee will continue the general merchandise business at the old stand.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature gives timely warnings that no Grand Rapids citizen can afford to ignore. —DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, watery fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here is proof in the statement of a recently resident.

Mrs. O. A. Neuman, 410 Division St. Stevens Point, Wis., says: "I suffered from a lame and weak back for several years. My kidneys were also weak and the secretions from these organs were very unnatural and irregular in passage. On a friend's advice, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. The results were gratifying and I gladly give this remedy my endorsement."

ALTDORF

A. E. Bennett and S. L. Brooks were calling in this neighborhood the fore part of the week. Mr. Brooks is a candidate for sheriff on the republican ticket and was out looking for signers for his nomination papers.

Who says Altdorf doesn't amount to anything and isn't growing when it can least of two correspondents for the Tribune?

O. J. Lea had the misfortune of losing his valuable Holstein herd bull last week. The animal got a pull over his nose in such a way that he could not get it off and consequently suffocated. The pull had been left in the pasture where people had been fighting fire.

Will someone please explain how the farmer is benefited by the tariff on hides, when leather is about 10 cents higher and hides about 5 cents a pound lower than they were before we had "the best tariff ever enacted?"

Nearly all the farmers are entrusting their grain for hay as it is not filling out any and besides there is such a scarcity of hay. Everyone who can is cutting marsh hay, so as to secure up feed enough for winter. But unless it rains soon the pastureage will give out and then there will be a hard time to save the stock.

SEVERE PENALTIES FOR BREAKING FIRE LAWS

For the information and guidance of the officers and residents of this community and as a warning to all such persons as dare take chance with fire built in reckless disregard of the rights and property of others during this or any other period of drought, we have caused the laws and statutes of the state of Wisconsin to be examined and we find and here publish the following sections applicable thereto.

Notice by supervisors to prohibit fires. Sec. 1636. (a).

Notice by fire warden to prohibit fires. Sec. 4105. (a.)

Damages caused by fires. Sec. 4401. Every one before setting any fire at a time so dangerous as the present would do well to consider the damage that might result and also the severe punishments meted out for violations of these laws, either one or all together.

FORBIDDING FIRES BY SUPERVISORS.

Sec. 1636. (a). Whenever the supervisors of any town shall be satisfied that the burning of grass, stubble, logs or brush on any lands therein will be a source of public danger they shall make an order in writing, which shall be signed by them, prohibiting the burning thereof on any such lands during such period as they shall deem best for the public interest, which order shall be revoked by them as soon as the cause for making it shall cease to exist.

Such order shall be published at least once in a newspaper published in such town, if one be published therein, and if not it shall be posted in three of the most public places therein at least three days before it shall be in force. Like notice shall be given of the revocation of the order, and such revocation shall be effective from the time notice of it is given.

Any person, who shall violate any such order shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than thirty days or by both fine and imprisonment.

POSTING NOTICES AND SETTING AND FILING TO PUT OUT FIRES.

Sec. 4405. (a.) Whenever the fire warden of any town becomes convinced that a dangerously dry time exists in the vicinity and that it is imprudent to set fires upon any land, he shall post or cause to be posted a notice in three public places in each town, forbidding the setting of such fires therein and after the posting of such notices no person shall set any fire upon any land in said town except for warming the person or cooking food, until written permission has been received from one of the fire wardens of said town. All persons who start camp fires shall exercise all reasonable precautions to prevent damage therefrom and shall entirely extinguish the same before leaving them. Every person violating any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months for each offense.

SETTING FIRES ON LAND NOT ONE'S OWN.

Sec. 4406. Any person who shall build a fire on any lands in this state not his own or under his control, except as hereinafter provided, shall, before leaving the same, totally extinguish it, and upon failure to do so shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any person who shall willfully or negligently set fire to or assist another to set fire on any and whereby such land is injured or endangered, or shall willfully or negligently suffer any fire upon his own land to escape beyond the limits thereof, to the injury of the land of another, shall be punished as heretofore provided and be liable to the person injured for all damage that may be caused by the fire.—Athens Record.

Advise Farmers Not to Sell.

Some of the farmers of this section are without doubt making a big mistake in that they are selling off their cows and heifers, doubtless influenced by a fear that food stuffs are to be unusually high the coming winter. There is really little grounds for this belief. True this immediate section and a strip extending into Minnesota has experienced a drought which has curtailed the hay and oat crops, but reports from other sections are that the hay crop is normal and there is no doubt but that feed can be shipped in if necessary at prices that will still leave a profit in the feeding of milk cows and heifers.

With the recent rains local conditions themselves have been much improved, and the promises are for plenty of moisture hereafter. The prairie roots in their search for moisture have grown deep into the ground and they are in condition to bring forth a bumper second crop. Even should the price of feed stuffs be somewhat higher than usual the very high price of butter, cheese and milk will make feeding profitable.

There is one phase of the situation that is not generally understood. Alfalfa hay can be shipped here and sold at about $17.00 per ton. With it as the principle feed it will be necessary to feed but little bran and feeds of that sort and the cost can in this way be considerably lessened.

It is absolutely necessary it is bad policy for a farmer to dispose of his cows and heifers under any conditions, for after a herd has once been depleted it is a difficult matter to build it up again. Hold the cows and heifers by all means.—Wausau Sun.

Truth in Jest.

When the French Revolution broke out, a number of scientists lost their lives; but Lalande, the astronomer, only paid the more attention to the skies and his constellations. When he found, after the Reign of Terror, that he had escaped the fury of the mob, he exclaimed gratefully: "I may thank my stars for it"—would any apparent jest possess more genuine truth?

Slow Up, Mr. Farmer.

The following from the Wausau Pilot applies with equal force to the farmers of Wood county:

Eight carloads of stock shipped out of this city today leads us to a desire to say something to the Marathon county farmer. There is absolutely no use of going into hysterics because the hay crop has been a failure in this section. There is no use selling in a Chicago market which has been forced to the lowest notch in years. While it is true that our hay crop has suffered, we are reliably informed that the crop elsewhere, in other states, is excellent and that the prospects of hay prices soaring this winter is very remote. Then, too, our corn crop never was better, and rains will bring out a second crop of clover which will be fully as heavy as it is any fall. The advanced prices for milk in butter and cheese making will more than offset the advance in feed stuffs. And the farmer must take into consideration that it takes some years to build up a herd that has been depleted. Go slow, Mr. Farmer, go slow.

"Is Life Worth Saving?"

Mrs. Mollie McManey, Prentiss, Miss., writes that she had a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble, and that four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cured her sound and well. She closed her letter by saying: "I heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to any sufferer of kidney disease. It saved my life." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

Extreme Low Water.

The engineers of the State University, together with a party of students, have been in camp at Devil's Lake. While there they took measurements at Merrimack, Sauk county, of the water in the Wisconsin river. This work, it is stated, disclosed the fact that the water is now the lowest on record for many years, being in fact less than one half of the low water flow. The result of some of the measurements were as follows: July 5, 3,310 cubic feet per second; July 6, 2,100 cubic feet; July 7, 2,118 cubic feet.

The result of some of the measurements were as follows: July 5, 2,340 cubic feet per second; July 6, 2,400 cubic feet; July 7, 2,118 cubic feet.

The Tribune is in receipt of a long circular letter from C. P. Cary, state superintendent of schools, in which Mr. Cary gives some suggestions about the way to improve the high school. The circular is rather a long one, occupying about two columns of space, which precludes the possibility of our publishing it. However, the letter is addressed to city superintendents, high school principals and boards of education, so it may have reached those that were most interested and whom it will do the most good. It appears there is something radically wrong with our high schools, although a careful perusal of the circular does not seem to clear up the matter entirely.

A Card.

We desire to extend through the Tribune our sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors, whose names we were unable to obtain at the moment, also the foreman and section crew No. 21 C. & N. W. R. R., for their timely aid Wednesday, July 13, 1910, in preventing the fire which attacked our south woods and pasture from spreading and thereby destroying our barns and buildings.

Respectfully, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Nixon.

The ball game played last Thursday, between the first and second teams, resulted in a victory for the first team, but as it proved to be good practice for the first team and it no doubt would be a good idea to arrange a few more games of this sort, the score was 6 to 0 in favor of the Regulars.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

At various points throughout the country there are vivid recollections of the deaths due to the mysterious outbreak of infantile paralysis. Not only children, but elderly persons were among its victims. At New York those who died from the malady included a prominent business man, a priest who had visited young members of his flock afflicted with infantile paralysis and caught the illness from them. There were numerous cases in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Specialists in the Rockefeller laboratories at New York have been working on infantile paralysis for a year, using monkeys in experiments which have demonstrated that it is not due to an abnormal condition of the blood, but is an infectious disease of the spinal cord. Despite careful microscopic search for a distinct microbe, so far none has been found. Experiments are now directed to the discovery of an anti-toxin for infantile paralysis such as that which has been used with marked success in the treatment of diphtheria. The knowledge that has been gained of the nature of the disease is expected to facilitate the discovery of its cure.

It transpires that the recent report from Germany that a certificate of inspection on importations of pork from America would be deemed adequate was erroneous. The German government has not removed its interdiction in this regard. Knowing that the special inspection for trichina has been abandoned in this country, Germany will no longer request special certificates as to that disease, because it is realized that no such certificates can be produced. This, of course, leaves matters unchanged, but at present there is no worry as to exportations of American pork because a short supply of hogs and an avid market for pork have caused prices to mount to heights at which exportation is unprofitable.

A New York yachting writer remarks that the schooner Shamrock, once a proud bearer of the New York Yacht Club pennant, has been "nubbed" by conversion into a fishing boat with gasoline engine. The service may be humbling in comparison with the royal service of a walk-out racing craft, but it is far from humble in comparison with the fate of the latest racers for the America's cup, the majority of which have gone to the scrap yard with their first paint on their plates.

AVIATOR ROLLS IS KILLED

Son of Lord Who Flew Across English Channel and Returned, Victim of Accident in View of Thousands in England.

Leichlingen, Rhineland Prussia.—Oscar Erbsloeh, the German aviator who won the international balloon race at St. Louis in 1907, and four companions were killed Wednesday when the dirigible balloon, which he had taken up at a height of several hundred feet and dropped to the earth in a crumpled mass.

The Dead.

Oscar Erbsloeh, inventor and balloonist; Hans Toelle, a manufacturer of balloons; Lucien Kraus, a German aviator; and a German aviator, were killed Wednesday when the dirigible balloon, which he had taken up at a height of several hundred feet and dropped to the earth in a crumpled mass.

The cause of the accident is a matter of conjecture, but it is believed that the bursting of the bag was due to the expansion of gas by the warm sun.

The war department recently purchased one of Erbsloeh's balloons. The cause of the accident is a matter of conjecture, but it is believed that the bursting of the bag was due to the expansion of gas by the warm sun.

The event in which Rolis was competing was for a prize for the aviator. The balloon, which he had taken up at a height of several hundred feet and dropped to the earth in a crumpled mass.

Without warning the tail piece of the balloon snapped off. The machine gave a sudden lurch, and the crew was thrown up the air.

Lord and Lady Langatock, the parents of Rolis, narrowly escaped with a few scratches. The balloon, which he had taken up at a height of several hundred feet and dropped to the earth in a crumpled mass.

"DRY" WAR LEADS TO LYNCHING

ANTI-BALLOON DETECTIVE HANGED FOR KILLING MAN.

Mob Storms Jail at Newark, O., Sets Prisoner and Strings Him Up.

Newark, O.—Hanging down the doors of the jail, a mob of women, men and children Friday took Charles Etherington, an anti-balloon detective, who confessed to having killed a man here, and lynched him in the public square.

The mob which had been increasing all evening at the jail became frenzied and refused to listen to pleas for preservation of order.

They broke all the jail windows and rammed in the outer door, taking the keys from the jailer. They quickly found the prisoner's cell on the second floor and then, dragged by a rope, the man was taken up Third street to the square and across the park to the southeast corner, where he was strung up over the arm of a telephone pole.

Gov. Harmon arrived in the city Sunday and began an investigation which may lead to the ouster of the sheriff and Mayor.

The shooting of Howard and the lynching of Etherington is the culmination of a long standing trouble between the "wets" and "drys" here.

Etherington and twenty others, all said to be "dry" detectives, came here from Cleveland and other places to get evidence against "near beer" saloons. At the first place no trouble arose. At the second Charles Richards, the bartender, was handcuffed for over an hour. At the third place visited the trouble started.

A mob of 2,000 gathered and threatened the detectives. With revolvers drawn the Anti-Saloon league officers refused to let a fatal. The police interfered there, arresting eight of the detectives.

The remaining twelve detectives broke and ran, pursued by the howling mob. Half a dozen were caught and beaten. The police rescued most of them. A downtown crowd fell on James Henderson of Columbus, who had been taken to the jail, and he was taken to the Newark hospital. Etherington, who tried to the ball park, stumbled in his flight and the crowd set upon him. Howard, the proprietor of a "near beer" saloon, the last place searched by the detectives, was in front of Etherington when the latter drew a revolver and fired.

Etherington was hurried to the jail with a yelling mob at the heels of the police who were protecting him. All afternoon a crowd gathered about the place threatening to lynch the detective.

Several shots were fired during the attempted hold-up, and the passengers, who filled five coaches, were thrown into a panic. Conductor Walker, who also displayed great coolness in the crisis, devoted his time to calming the passengers.

The train was in the hands of the bandits 40 minutes. For half an hour they tried of their own accord to uncouple the baggage car. It was not until they found themselves unable to do the work that they got the engineer and fireman.

According to the railroad officials there were thousands of dollars in the baggage car in addition to the mail.

BALLOON EXPLODES

OSCAR ERBSLOEH, GERMAN AVIATOR, AND FOUR COMPANIONS ARE KILLED.

BENZINE TANK BLOWS UP

Dirigible Plunges Several Thousand Feet in Trial Test at Leichlingen—Bodies of Victims Horribly Mangled.

Leichlingen.—Oscar Erbsloeh, the German aviator who in 1907 won the international balloon race at St. Louis, and four companions were killed Wednesday when the dirigible balloon, which he had taken up at a height of several hundred yards and dropped to the ground in a crumpled mass.

The bodies of the aviators were horribly mangled. The accident was caused by the bursting of a benzine tank.

The dirigible was torn to bits and the motor hurled itself beneath the surface of the ground.

The victims were well known to all Germans interested in aerial tests. The balloon, which was of the non-rigid type, had just been made over for a passenger service between Leichlingen and nearby points. It was inflated for a flight test by the crew. The ascent was made near Opladen and during a fog.

There were few eye witnesses of the accident. According to those who were present, the balloon was well made. The Erbsloeh rose gracefully, pushing its way through the fog to a height estimated at several hundred yards. At this altitude a series of evolutions was begun. Suddenly there was a loud report and at the moment the four men on board were twisted about until the gas escaped from the forward compartment the prow swung downward. For a flash the dirigible flared like a wounded bird and then fell swiftly to earth.

Erbsloeh and his companions were killed the second they struck the ground. Their hands were battered in and every limb was broken.

An examination of the wreckage showed that the benzine tank had burst, tearing to shreds the rubber envelope directly above it. The destruction of this envelope caused the bow to collapse.

The death of Erbsloeh and his crew with the destruction of the balloon for which much had been hoped, following closely upon the loss of Count Zeppelin's Deutschland, has caused gloom in aviation circles.

His severely had recovered from the shock caused by the accidental death of Charles Stewart Rolls, the English aviator, when they learned that Erbsloeh had been added to the long list of Germans who had lost their lives while ballooning.

Several shots were fired during the attempted hold-up, and the passengers, who filled five coaches, were thrown into a panic. Conductor Walker, who also displayed great coolness in the crisis, devoted his time to calming the passengers.

AIR FALL KILLS FIVE

OSCAR ERBSLOEH AND FOUR COMPANIONS PERISH WHEN DIRIGIBLE BALLOON DROPS.

AVIATOR ROLLS IS KILLED

Son of Lord Who Flew Across English Channel and Returned, Victim of Accident in View of Thousands in England.

Leichlingen, Rheinland Prussia.—Oscar Erbsloeh, the German aeronaut who won the international prize for the first flight across the English Channel in 1907, and four companions, were killed Wednesday when the dirigible balloon Erbsloeh built at a height of several hundred feet and dropped to the earth a crumpled mass.

The Dead.

The craft was of the nonrigid type, 176 feet in length and 23 feet in diameter. The motors were of 150 horse power and drove the airship at a speed of 28 1/2 miles an hour.

The cause of the accident is a matter of conjecture, but it is believed that the bursting of the bag was due to the expansion of gas by the warm sunbathing.

Hounmouth, England.—Hon. Charles Langatock and one of the most daring and skillful of British aviators, who recently made a flight from Dover to France and return, met a most tragic death at the close of the first flying machine tournament of the year in England Tuesday.

In the presence of a great company of spectators, a majority of whom were women and children, and many personal friends of the young aviator, the Wright biplane on which he was flying fell suddenly with terrific speed from a height of 100 feet.

It struck the ground close to the crowded grand stand, and before the doctors and their assistants could reach the spot Rolis was dead.

The event in which Rolis was competing was for a prize for the aviator who could fly a given distance. The goal was directly in front of the grand stand, where the spectators were massed.

He had risen to a good height, then shut off his motor and was gliding in a broad circle toward the mark.

Without warning the tail piece of the biplane snapped off. The machine gave a sudden lurch, and the frame was crumpled up the air. When it struck the ground it was smashed to splinters. The doctors found that Rolis had sustained a fractured skull.

Lord and Lady Langatock, the parents of Rolis, narrowly escaped with their lives. They were sitting in the grand stand, and when the crash occurred they were thrown to the ground.

Rolis was thirty-three years old, and was one of the most popular young all-around sportsmen in England.

Bethan, France.—Baroness De Roche, the first French woman aviator, was injured probably fatally here Friday by falling from a height of more than 150 feet.

Baroness De Roche had flown around the field once at a height of 80 meters (260 feet), when suddenly in front of the applauding tribunes she appeared to become "frightened" and confused at the approach of two other aeroplanes. She began to descend, but while still 50 meters from the ground lost control of the machine. The aeroplane turned over and fell into the water.

Baroness De Roche was momentarily conscious the baroness said that the rush of air from a motor passing over her head had frightened her, whereupon she cut the ignition and lost control of her machine.

"DRY" WAR LEADS TO LYNCHING

ANTI-SALOON DETECTIVE HANGED FOR KILLING MAN.

MOB STORMS JAIL AT NEWARK, O. GETS PRISONER AND STRINGS HIM UP.

Newark, O.—Battering down the doors of the jail, a mob of women, men and children Friday took Charles Etherington, an anti-saloon detective, who confessed to having killed a man here, and lynched him in the public square.

The mob which had been increasing all evening at the jail became frenzied and refused to listen to pleadings for preservation of order.

They broke all the jail windows and rammed in the outer door, taking the prisoner from the jailer. They found the prisoner's cell in the second floor and then dragged him to the street and across the park to the southeast corner, where he was strung up over the arm of a telephone pole.

Gov. Harmon arrived in the city Sunday and began an investigation which may lead to the ouster of the sheriff and Mayor.

The shooting of Etherington is the culmination of a long standing trouble between the "wets" and "drys" here.

Etherington and twenty others, all said to be "dry" detectives, came here from Cleveland and other places to get evidence against "near beer" saloons. At the first place no trouble occurred. At the second Charles Etherington, the bartender, was handcuffed for over an hour. At the third place violence was started.

A mob of 2,000 gathered and threatened the detectives. With revolvers drawn the anti-saloon league officers retreated to a hotel. The police interfered there, arresting eight of the detectives.

The remaining twelve detectives broke and ran, pursued by the howling mob. Half a dozen were caught and beaten. The police rescued most of them. A downtown crowd fell on James Henderson of Columbus, who beat him so severely that he was taken to the Newark hospital.

The ball park, who saw his flight and the crowd set upon him. Howard, the proprietor of a "near beer" saloon, the last place searched by the detectives, was in front of Etherington when the latter drew a revolver and fired to the jail with a yelling mob at the heels of the police.

The crowd stormed about the place threatening to lynch the detective.

Several shots were fired during the attempted hold-up, and the passerby, who filled five coaches, were thrown into a panic.

TRAIN ROBBERS ARE FOILED

THREE YOUTHS HOLD UP THE "KATY" FLYER.

Crew Slips From Under Muzzles of Revolvers, Regains Cab and Dash Away.

St. Louis.—Cleverness on the part of the engineer prevented three youthful and apparently inexperienced bandits from robbing the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Southwestern flyer, No. 2, near Laramore, about fifteen miles from St. Louis.

Three young men were arrested as suspects and are in jail pending investigation. The police do not believe they are the men wanted and are searching for three others.

The bandits compelled the engineer and fireman, at the points of revolvers, to descend from the cab and go with them to the baggage car to assist them in unloading it.

While talking about the coupling the engineer and fireman in the darkness managed to guide away from the bandits. The two started on a run for the cab. The bandits soon became aware that the crew was dashing for the cab and opened fire.

The engineer and fireman sprang into the cab, the engineer threw the throttle wide open and dashed away with the train.

Several shots were fired during the attempted hold-up, and the passerby, who filled five coaches, were thrown into a panic.

BALLOON EXPLODES

OSCAR ERBSLOEH, GERMAN AVIATOR, AND FOUR COMPANIONS ARE KILLED.

BENZINE TANK BLOWS UP

Dirigible Plunges Several Thousand Feet in Trial Test at Leichlingen—Bodies of Victims Horribly Mangled.

Leichlingen.—Oscar Erbsloeh, the German aeronaut who in 1907 won the international prize for the first flight across the English Channel, and four companions, were killed Wednesday when the dirigible balloon Erbsloeh built at a height of several hundred yards and dropped to the ground a crumpled mass.

The bodies of the aviators were frightfully mangled. The accident was caused by the bursting of a benzine tank.

The gondola was torn to bits and the motor buried itself beneath the surface of the ground.

The victims were well known to all Germans interested in aerial feats.

The balloon, which was of the non-rigid type, had just been inflated preparatory to the scheduled flight of a passenger service. It was inflated for a final test by the crew. The ascent was made near Opladen and during a fog.

There were few eye witnesses of the accident. According to those who saw it, the dirigible was in the air through the fog to a height estimated at several hundred yards. At this altitude a series of evolutions was begun.

Suddenly there was a loud report and at the moment the fore part of the vessel crumpled up and the gondola was twisted about until it appeared as though standing on one end. As the gas escaped from the forward compartment the propeller was broken.

For a flash the airship fluttered like a wounded bird and then fell swiftly to earth.

Erbsloeh and his companions were killed the second they struck the ground. Their heads were battered in and every limb was broken.

An examination of the wreckage showed that the benzine tank had burst, tearing to shreds the rubber envelope directly above it. The destruction of this envelope caused the bow to collapse.

The death of Erbsloeh and his crew with the destruction of the balloon, for which much had been hoped, following closely the loss of Count Zeppelin's dirigible, has caused gloom in aviation circles. The public scarcely had recovered from the shock caused by the accidental death of Charles Stewart Rolls, the English aviator, when they learned that Erbsloeh had been added to the long list of Germans who had lost their lives while ballooning.
